Michigan has a reputation for safe, high quality, fresh and wholesome foods. Buying and eating locally grown food helps support the local economy, strengthen Michigan's family farms and agribusinesses, and preserve our state's rich agricultural heritage.

Look for the Select Michigan logo on Michigan grown and processed products in your local grocery store, and visit a Michigan farmers' market or farm market as you travel across the state. Not only will you taste the bounty of Michigan at its freshest - you will also be doing your part to support a healthy, sustainable and local food system. This in turn helps keep farming an affordable way of life for future generations.

Select Michigan.

It's good for you, our growers, and our local economy.
